

Pleuger Industries GmbH is a worldwide leading supplier of submersible motor pumps, reciprocating pumps, ship propulsion systems, decoking systems and related services Pleuger currently employs app. 200 people who are dedicated to modern pump solutions. With German engineering know-how and decades of industry knowledge, we meet the demands of our customers worldwide for functionality and energy efficiency in plant construction. For our location in Hamburg we are looking for you as a

Student Intern Finance Analyst (m/f/d)

Your Duties:

- Business/strategy development support
- Market research and analysis
- Background in M&A or transaction-related activities would be an advantage
- Willingness to familiarize yourself with new topics, especially in the areas of private equity and M&A (initial practical experience would be an advantage)
- Market research
- Company valuation methods understanding
- Support in the company due diligence process
- Preparation of decision documents for the management

Your Profile:

- Already begun to study business or economics or related disciplines, preferably focus on finance or corporate finance
- Ideally had your first practical experience in company valuation, corporate finance, or accounting
- Very good analytical skills with attention to details
- An independent, accurate and reliable working style
- High level of initiative
- A very good command of English
- Proficient in MS-Office in particular Excel

We offer:

- A collegial and team-oriented corporate culture
- Free parking and coffee
- Very good HVV transport connections and Proficard subsidy
- 30 days holiday, Christmas and holiday pay
- Attractive remuneration

For further information please contact Mrs. Katrin Rehkate Tel. 040/69689-355. If you find yourself in our requirement profile and are interested in fully committing yourself to the task described, please send your application with possible starting date and salary expectations to the personnel department at karriere@pleugerindustries.com.